EPISODE 38 - Community Outreach or, “Family Education Day” Part 1

1. Jacqui Worries About Family Education Day

In this episode, a stressed out Jacqui recruits the interns to get the “Five Families” of the Fresno bleeding disorder community to show up at the upcoming Family Education Day. This proves to be more difficult than expected.

Jacqui says if Stop The Bleeding can’t recruit enough families for Family Education Day, the new chapter may not be able to have the big impact they all want to have. Why do you think it’s so important for chapters to have a great Family Education Day?

Why do you think it can be difficult getting families from across your state together for a Family Education Day? If you were planning a Family Education Day, how would you convince families to come?

Have you been to any chapter events, or Education Days in your community? If so, what did you enjoy about it? If not, what would you like to learn about at a bleeding disorder Education Day?

2. Iggy, The Boy with Von Willebrand!

Nora has a crush on Megan's cousin Iggy, a boy with Von Willebrand disease (VWD). This surprises Nora, who was unaware that boys can vWD, too.

2a. Critical Thinking Discussion Questions...

Let's put that brain to work! Fill in your answers below to the best of your ability!

Nora, a person with a bleeding disorder herself, is surprised to learn that males can also have vWD. Did you know this? Why do you think vWD is not as well known as hemophilia?

Iggy is worried about going to Family Education Day because there aren't a lot of events there for males with vWD. Can you relate to Iggy? Have you ever felt nervous about going to a bleeding disorders event? If so, why? If not, why not?

What are two ways chapter organizations can make sure the events at Education Days are fun and engaging to everyone in the community?

3. She is Natasha, Hear Her Roar!

Goose tries to recruit Natasha, a tough female bleeder who isn't so sure about this whole Family Education Day thing, by challenging her to a basketball game called H-E-M-O...

3a. Critical Thinking Discussion Questions...

Let's put that brain to work! Fill in your answers below to the best of your ability!

Why did Goose feel it was so important to recruit females with bleeding disorders to join the community at Family Education Day?

Natasha mentions that Family Education Day events "never do anything for lady bleeders," and, "it's like we don't exist!" Why do you think Natasha feels this way?

If you could design the most amazing Family Education Day ever, what are three things YOU would make sure to have at the event?

Great job! You're all done for now!
